

Revelation and the First Century:

Preterist Interpretations of the Apocalypse in Early Christianity

by

Francis X. Gumerlock

June 2011

Contents

Introduction: Are Preterist Interpretations of Revelation Something New?

Chapter 1: On the Time of John's Exile (Rev 1:1-9)

Chapter 2: The Tribulation of the First Century (Rev 3:10)

Chapter 3: Nero Sitting on a Red Horse (Rev 6:3-4)

Chapter 4: Titus Riding a Black Horse (Rev 6:5-6)

Chapter 5: The Roman Siege of Jerusalem and the Sixth Seal (Rev 6:12-17)

Chapter 6: 144,000 First Century Jewish Believers (Rev 7:1-9:16)

Chapter 7: God's Two Witnesses (Rev 11:2-12:14)

Chapter 8: Nero's Fatal Wound and Mysterious Number (Rev 13:3-18)

Chapter 9: Nero the Sixth King (Rev 16:14-17:11)

Chapter 10: A Slaughter in the Last Days (James 5:3-6)

Chapter 11: Nero as the Mystery of Iniquity (2 Thess 2:7)

Chapter 12: More Preterist Interpretations of Matthew 24 (Matt 24:5-21)

Chapter 13: The Budding of the Fig Tree (Matt 24:32-33)

Chapter 14: Daniel's 70th Week Fulfilled (Dan 9:24-27)

Chapter 15: The Roman-Judean War in Old Testament Prophecy

Conclusion: The Antiquity of Preterist Interpretations of Revelation

Bibliography

Indices